Kentucky Commission on Human Rights will meet June 15 to rule on discrimination complaints

LOUISVILLE, Ky. – The Kentucky Commission on Human Rights Board of Commissioners will hold a regular meeting on Thursday, June 15, in Louisville, Ky., to rule on discrimination complaints for the people of Kentucky.

The meeting will be held at 9:30 a.m. (Eastern Daylight Time) at commission headquarters at 332 W. Broadway, which sits at the south corner of Fourth and Broadway in Downtown Louisville. The state government meeting is free and open to the public. Call 800.292.5566 for more information.

The Kentucky Commission on Human Rights is the state government authority that enforces the Kentucky Civil Rights Act (Kentucky Revised Statutes Chapter 344), and, through its affiliations with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, enforces federal civil rights laws.

A person who believes he or she may be a victim of illegal discrimination should contact the commission and ask to file a discrimination complaint. The commission investigates, mediates, reaches settlement-type agreements called conciliation agreements, and rules and issues final orders on complaints with the authority of a court of law.

The Kentucky Civil Rights Act makes it unlawful to discriminate against people in the areas of employment, financial credit transactions, housing and public accommodations. Discrimination is prohibited in these areas based on race, color, religion, national origin, gender, and disability. In employment, discrimination is further prohibited on the basis of age (40-years and over) and on the basis of tobacco-smoking status. In housing, discrimination is further prohibited based on familial status, which protects people with children in the household under the age of 18-years old, and it protects women who are pregnant. It is also a violation of the law to retaliate against a person for reporting or alleging discrimination.

For help with discrimination or to make a discrimination complaint, contact the commission at 800.292.5566. The commission also provides civil rights compliance or awareness training to employers, housing providers, organizations, and community groups. Visit the website at www.kchr.ky.gov.
